

FULL BELLIES FEED LEARNING

We need your support to help us continue getting groceries to SCUSD families in need.

SCUSD students are at a higher risk of food insecurity than County, State, and National average.

One in four SCUSD students are at risk of hunger.

The Community Food Connections program, through Alchemist CDC, supports some of our most vulnerable students and families. They deliver fresh produce and groceries to 440+ SCUSD student households each month, with more on the waiting list hoping for help.

Research shows that hunger hurts student concentration, memory, mood, motor skills, and attendance. Your gift can help!

*This program assists the most vulnerable households in the district, determined by referrals from campus social workers. If you are experiencing hunger, please reach out to your campus social worker.
